ROBBERS TORTURE
MAN, KILL WOMAN,
FIRE HOME, STORY

COUNTY OFFICIALS INVESTIGATE CLAIM OF HUSBAND.

TOES CUT OFF

Wife's Body Is Found in Cis-tern on Michigan Farm.

[EX ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Hastings, Mich.—Authorities of Barry county Tuesday were investigating a story of the slaying last Saturday of Mrs. John Baverstock, an attack upon her husband in which two of his toes were cut off and his throat slashed, before he gave up all the money he possessed and then attempted by the robbers to burn the Baverstock farm home near Middleville.

Details of the reported attack were given officers by Baverstock Monday. The officials had suspected Baverstock of slaying his wife and attempting suicide, while temporarily insane.

Three men forced an entrance to his home at 3 o'clock Saturday morning, Baverstock said. They demanded money and when this was refused, he saw two of the men holding while the third cut off two of his toes. After this, he said, he gave up $30.

The trio then seized his wife, Baverstock said, and dragged her to a cistern, where her body was found later with a window curtain drawn tightly about the neck.

Returning to the house, Baverstock declared the men slashed his throat and pinned him between the bed and the wall, after which they set fire to the building and departed.

Druggist Is Found Dead

[EX ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Madison—Isaac Weaver, former Madison druggist, was found dead shot through the heart on a road four miles from Madison, at 4 p.m. Monday.

It is believed he lost his life as a result of an accident while hunting. Four boys, returning from a hunting trip, discovered the body of Mr. Weaver near a fence. He was about 150 feet away. Apparently he had been trying to lift the automobile and, in trying to lift his automobile over the fence, had caused it to discharge.

Blaine Praises Holway; Urges Him to Remain

[EX ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Madison.—The record of Adjutant General Orlando Holway, in administering the Wisconsin national guard is praised by Governor Elmer E. Holway becomes eligible to retirement today, after eight years service in his present position and more than 30 years as a member of the guard.

The statute provides that the governor may reappoint the adjutant general for a term of 64 years of age. Governor Holway becomes eligible to retirement today, after eight years service in his present position and more than 30 years as a member of the guard.

"I desire to advise you that I believe it unwise at this time to appoint an adjutant general in your stead, and I feel that your present status might well be maintained," Governor Holway says in his letter.

"I believe it is generally recognized," the governor adds, "that in 1917 when the national guard was called into service of the United States, great credit should be accorded you for your efficient and expeditious administration in that emergency. The National guard is undergoing a reorganization, and the state ought to avail itself of your services and experience."

"I thought you might want to know I am sure the National Guard will want to know my attitude."

RATE TO GO UP

High Cost of City Administration Takes Another Balloon Trip.

Calling for the raising of $606,542.98 by direct tax levy, Janesville's 1922 budget, by far the largest in the history of the city, was finally adopted by the council at its regular meeting, Monday night. With the assessed valuation at $29,568,386, this makes the 1922 rate for city purposes alone, $20.51 plus, per $1,000. The rate this year, including state and county taxes, was $21.11, which is taken to indicate at least a 3.5% rate for 1922.

A last minute attempt to cut the police salary budget of $27,370 by reducing the number of patrolmen and a suggestion that the lighting appropriation be sliced by illuminating only alternate lights in the ornamental system were the only features of the budget discussion. Both failed to gain favor, and the budget was adopted identically as agreed upon in the informal meeting a week ago.

World Cut Police Force.

The vote was 13 to 1, Ald. A. J. Gibbons casting the lone negative vote because he stood for a reduction in the police appropriation, on the grounds that President George Sutherland of the police and fire commission has stated the size of the force could be reduced. No proposal was made for a commission's promised raise of $100 for Chief Charles Newman, but Mayor Welsh stated it could be done at a cost of indefinitely without increasing the budget appropriation.

"I think we should cut the number of patrolmen," said Ald. George Traver.

Bothered (?) Wild Saloons.

"Without harking back to the 40 years ago stuff," said Alderman Gibbons,
"I remember when this commission was well posted at one time, the present too. We've bothered them with the saloons, if you would consider them a bother, but the city was patrolled well. I believe President Sutherland has stated the force could be cut and that the council could save money if it would heed the requests of the police and fire commission. I have heard of no recommendation of the commission to the council for such action, have you?"

The discussion ended without a ballot to ratify on the proposal.
Jensen Offers Data.

Just a suggestion before the budget is passed," offered Ald.
J. K. Jensen. "It calls for $26,- 000 for street lighting in 1922.

I contend that this could be cut about $7,000 if we should eliminate every other light in the ornamental system.

"In the four-block area bounded by West Milwaukee, River Pleasant and South Jackson street we now have four lights of a total candle-power of 550. Under the new ornamental system we will have 38 lights in that district at a cost of $40 a year apiece. I contend that this is a waste of money."

"The matter was thoroughly gone into by spring and will be done," replied the mayor. "The lights in the residence districts are more than 50 per cent apart on all streets and, of course, we could save 90% of the light cost and it would be cheaper."

The discussion ended without a ballot to ratify on the proposal.

High Officials Attend.

Minister of War Barthou, several French generals, General Allen and other French and American officials will go to Hawaii to attend the funeral.

M. Barthou informed General
Allen Monday that Marshal Foch would decorate the unknown soldier with the French military medal when he was buried at Arlington cemetery Nov. 11, when the body will be buried.

General Allen has taken the most complete precautions to insure the selection of a body which is impossible of identification.

FUNERAL LIKE THAT

Washington—The body of the American soldier brought back from France for burial at Arlington cemetery, in memory of the nation's unknown dead in the war, is placed in the rotunda of the capitol on the night of Nov. 9, it will lie in state on the same catafalque that was used for Presidents Lincoln, Garfield and McKinley. An announcement issued Tuesday by the war department said that the "drapery which the catafalque would be, a careful reproduction of those used at the funerals of the three martyred presidents."

Two Held for Man's Murder

[EX ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Two Rivers, Mich.—Mrs. Lavinia
Slack, 52, and George Coney, 62, her brother, were held in a county jail at Centerville Tuesday on a charge of murder in connection with the death of William J. Slack, 76, the woman's husband.

Slack's body was found hanging in a closet when the family returned home Sunday night. Police first leaned to the theory that the lad had accidentally hanged himself while experimenting. Police said Tuesday, however, that he did not believe the boy could have tied the knot himself.

CONGRESSMAN AND
FLYER ARE BRUISED

[EX ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Washington—Calder Peers, former lieutenant in the regular army, now in prison for killing his captain, has asked the war department to pardon him, to come up to the time of the slaying, he did not realize it was murder.

This unique plea comes from a man now 25, who lived until he was 17 along Shall Creek in East Tennessee, a mountain boy, whose education consisted principally in being taught to shoot quick and straight.

"Those folks don't know it's wrong to kill," he pleads in his letter and says he was not the crew where his basic training was to kill. In a scientific manner.

"Under the abnormal world war, I yielded to an impulsive" passionate anger and just about ruined everything," he adds in explaining the slaying of his captain, which he admits was deliberate.

"But," he writes, "consider my childhood environment and the military education I received. What other result could be expected?"

"Since my incarceration I have for the first time learned it is wrong to murder."

New York.—Operating agreements between the International Mercantile Marine and the British Commerce Corporation, and the British government, did not affect the company's American flag ships even before the drafting of a supplementary agreement requested by the shipping board. P. A. S. Franklin, president of the International Mercantile Marine, told members of the board at a special hearing here Tuesday. Mr. Franklin emphasized that the company was an American corporation, 93% of its stock being owned by English citizens.

Analysis of Janesville City Government

Prepared for the Janesville Daily Gazette by Gaylord Cummin, C. E., Institute of Public Service, N. Y. City.

XIV.—FIRE DEPARTMENT.

The fire department has enough general officers, but is short a captain and four lieutenants. This should certainly be corrected when the two platoon system is installed, so that an officer can always be on duty at each house. This can be done at small expense by designating certain men as lieutenants and paying them even one dollar a month more than privates.

A 750 gallon combination pumper has been added to the department since the examination, leaving the department short a service ladder truck. The present horse drawn aerial should be furnished with a tractor and a quick raising device for the ladder. The installation of the quick raising device will give the city credit for one man each shift, or a total of two men under the two platoon system.

There are twenty full time and four call men available for fighting fires. Two of the call men sleep in an engine house. The men at present are given one day off in five, three hours daily for meals and ten days annual vacation. This leaves the department quite short-handed as can be seen from the following:

20 Men available
4 on days off (1 or 5)
5 Plus at-meals (1 in 3 of remainder)
1/2 of a man on vacation
Less
34
10 1/2
Plus (credit for 4 call men)
1/2 plus minimum number available in daytime 20 men sleeping at station
1/2 credit for other 2 call men
22 1/2
Less on days off and vacations
18 men available at night

The following compares present minimum strength with the requirements.

Day	Required	Night	Required
Available	Required	Available	Required

When the two platoon system is installed, as it must be under the State law, the reduction in minimum strength will not be great if it is arranged that the shifts work twenty-four hours on an twenty-four hours off) with no meal hours. This is used in a number of cities. The results here would be, with the present force, as follows:

Day	Required	Night	Required
Available	Required	Available	Required
12	21	18	29
20 Men	20 Men	10 Men on day off	10 Men
10	10	10	10
1/2 Credit for 4 call men	1/2 Credit for 4 call men	1/2 Minimum available	1/2 Minimum available
20 Men	20 Men	10 Men on day off	10 Men on day off
10	10	10	10
Call men sleeping in house	Call men sleeping in house	Credit for 2 other call men	Credit for 2 other call men

This plan, using the same number of men now employed, would cut the minimum day strength $1\frac{1}{2}$ men and the night strength $5\frac{1}{2}$ men. By adding four men to the department, the day time minimum would be increased over the present strength by $\frac{1}{2}$ man in the day and decreased $3\frac{1}{2}$ men at night. By arranging in addition for about four more call men to sleep at engine house, the two platoon system would result in no loss of strength. It should be easy to arrange for single men to render this night service for a small sum a month, and a place to sleep. The men on their day off should be required to answer all second alarms. This will provide a valuable reserve. The city is heavily penalized in its insurance rating by the shortage of man power in the department and it should not be weakened further.

In the operation of the department it is noted that the rules and regulations are not printed or mimeographed and placed in the hands of the men. This is something that should certainly be done if discipline is to be enforced.

No drills or schools are conducted. It is not possible to have an efficient fire fighting force under these conditions. Unless drills are provided, the men are not kept in the best of physical trim, they do not know their physical capabilities and limitations, they are clumsy on ladders, they have not had experience in rescue work by ladder or life line. Life and property of others are not only threatened by this lack of training but their own lives are endangered. The men should have training in the handling of hose lines and heavy stream apparatus, in connecting to hydrants, in fire fighting and salvage methods, etc. Schools should cover hydrant and box locations, locations of special hazards, fire inspections, etc.

A wonderful improvement can be made in a short time by the installation of proper drills. The results obtained in Dubuque, Iowa, within the last year, will bear investigation by Janesville. A very poor department was transformed into a good one within six months without changing the men.

The writer had opportunity to watch the Janesville department in action. The material is good, but they sadly lack training. It is suggested that the city send one of the officers of the department through the New York Fire Department School. This will cost his railroad fare and living expenses in New York, and will take seven weeks. Arrangements can be made with Chief Kenlow of the New York Department. The Chicago School might be used, but it is not as good as that in New York. Upon the return of this man, place him in charge of drills. The men may object at first to being drilled instead of playing checkers, but they will eventually get interested and enjoy the work. In six months Janesville will not know its fire department.

The department is lacking in certain equipment such as deluge sets, nozzle holders, hose hoists, door openers, wrecking tools, smoke protectors, life net, surgical kits, etc. The hose is all $2\frac{1}{2}$ inch. There is no 3 inch hose in service. Good practice requires that all apparatus answering first alarms in the high value district carry at least 500 feet of 3 inch hose and other companies at least 200 feet. This hose should be furnished with $2\frac{1}{2}$ inch couplings properly bevelled. This hose is valuable where long lines must be laid as it reduces the friction loss by more than half. It is of great importance in Janesville where long lines must often be laid in the residence districts due to the wide hydrant spacing. All hose purchased during the next few years should be 3 inch until the department is properly equipped. The addition of this minor equipment and 3 inch hose will not cost a great deal and will save quite a penalty now imposed by their absence.

It was noted by the Underwriters that the threads on some of the hydrants were not the same as the hose and that the steamer outlets on the hydrants have a different thread than the suction hose carried by the reserve steam-

AVERAGE 200 FEET DAILY IN PAVING

May Complete Hickory Street Concrete Laying in Two Weeks.

Like some prehistoric animal, dozens of tons of cement, gravel and sand, the huge mixer being used by the James Cape & Son Company's construction crew, in laying the Glen and Hickory street pavement, does its work. The arm reaches from the center to either side of the street and, using its "paws," drops a large pile of concrete.

A week ago the paving was started on Glen street at the corner of North Bluff. By laying 200 feet per day, by fast Friday the corner of Hickory had been passed and the top of the hill reached by the huge machine. Approximately 2,500 additional feet will be completed within two weeks time, the weather continuing fair, officials superintending the work state.

Thirty men on job.

The laying of a concrete street is a long and complicated process. Two longs before the actual pouring of concrete starts a crew is put to work laying the gutter. This is followed by the pouring starts by the level that is necessary. This is not completed before the pouring starts and the excavator and mixer are usually at work at the same time. When this work was started on Hickory street 20 men were put to work and this force will probably be retained until the contract is completed.

Between 700 and 800 sacks of cement are used daily. Large piles of sand and gravel are put along the sides of the road at intervals. From these are little wooden runways going to the mixer. Then the work starts. Six wheelbarrow loads of gravel are dumped into the large scoop, then four loads of sand, then four bags of cement. When mixed the concrete is run along the street to either side of the road in the scoop and dumped on the road. Then another man's work starts. He must spread the concrete around evenly. This keeps the mixer busy until the time that another load of mixture is dropped.

Heavy Re-enforcing Screen.

After this process is kept up until 15 or 20 feet have been laid and smoothed out, the re-enforcing is laid. This re-enforcing is wire fencing and is laid from one side to the other. One more layer of concrete must be poured over this and then the process of smoothing is repeated. This time a roller is used. Two long cords are fastened to the roller and is pulled from one end to the other. This makes the road smooth and at the same time takes out a good deal of the water. Smoothing by hand, with the smaller instruments used for sidewalks follows, completing the process.

When the concrete has become hard, dirt and sand is dumped on to allow the proper seasoning. Two weeks must elapse before traffic can go on the street, and three weeks makes the road still better, according to Mr. Cape.

Council Sidelights

City Nurses Report.
Twelve patients were cared for in 73 visits according to the September report of Mrs. Emma Harvey, visiting nurse, showing three patients dismissed, received hospital admission on October 1. Other monthly reports due and accepted by the council, Monday night, were from the police department, municipal, plumbing inspector, county of education, sanitary inspector, and health officer.

Three Permits.

An order was entered vacating a public ally in the rear of Mrs. Blumberg's residence, 214 Franklin, which complied with the long legal red tape method required. M. M. Ruschel was given a permit to install a gasoline pump and filling station in front of his store at 101 Franklin. The Sheldon hardware company was given a permit to erect an electric sign.

Report on Gasoline.

Please be advised that our present gas tank is too small, gasoline is at 2 cents a gallon and that we have never charged the city more than one cent above tank wagon price, as called for in the contract.

Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Turner, Mr. and Mrs. Nonnah, Mr. and Mrs. William Smith and Mr. and Mrs. Peter Smith motored to Lake Kegonsa Saturday.

KU-KLUX MEANS

HATRED, ASSERTS FEDERAL OFFICER

Chicago—The Ku Klux Klan endangers "deep hatred" in the hearts of creeds or races "disseminated against, particularly when the Klan lays claim to a 100 per cent Americanism," John V. Cline, assistant United States district attorney, said in a statement Tuesday after an investigation of the organization.

"There is nothing in its charter of "a sinister, malignant nature," he declared.

It is apparent that membership is automatically barred to negroes, Catholics and Jews.

Agree on Sidewalks.

A new grade for a sidewalk on the tallman property on the west side of North Franklin street, between Ray and Main street, was agreed to by contractors who are now ready to begin work, the fence having been removed. The new grade will save the destruction of several old trees. A sidewalk will be laid on the south side of North Franklin street, just off Milton avenue. Grading was ordered to eliminate a dangerous condition on Walker street, from Hickory to the railroad tracks.

Diamond $85 Claim.

The council voted to disallow the claim of Peter Myers for $85, the cost of replacing a window in the Myers hotel destroyed when a room above exploded, by a passing automobile. It was reported this happened after a storm when a quantity of debris was in the street, but this was denied by Alderman Dulin.

Work for Vindict.

Ald. John C. Harlow suggested that an ultimatum be served on the St. Paul railroad relative to building a new viaduct over North Franklin street so work can be started early in spring. The railroad has refused to respond to the city's letters, he said, and should be dealt with more severely.

FIRE INSURANCE TRIAL IS OPENED

Williams, Serving Prison Term, in Court Under Guard.

Involving an important question of law, the suit of E. L. Bellman, Evansville, against six insurance companies to recover losses suffered in an Evansville garage fire, started before Judge George Grimm in Rock county circuit court Tuesday afternoon. Testimony and argument were continued after Bellman was out of the stand for two hours.

When Mr. Bellman was called the attorneys, T. S. Nolan and R. M. Richmond, were obliged to write out each question, read it for the court and reporter, and then hand it to the witness to be answered. He is the witness to be answered.

J. R. Williams, former partner of Bellman, who pleaded guilty to flinging the gas can, was brought from Waupun to testify in the action and appeared in court under guard. His testimony is declared to be material by the defense. The insurance companies which issued policies on the garage have combined their cases into one action, the test cases.

The court will be obliged to determine whether Bellman, as a partner, will lose the insurance money on the garage, and property because Williams committed arson. Through past proceedings the innocence of Bellman has been established. Evidence was given during the hearing Tuesday that Bellman had no previous knowledge of the fire resulting in the serious loss. Williams alone took the blame during the trials in 1920 and after the conviction of Williams, Bellman brought suit for the insurance.

Fatty to Be Nabbed Under Dry Statute

San Francisco—Arrangements have been completed to arrest ("Fatty") Arbuckle for alleged violation of the Volstead prohibition act when he arrived here from Los Angeles Wednesday to answer to a manslaughter charge in connection with the death of Miss Virginia Rose, a young picture actress. H. McCormack, assistant United States attorney general in charge of probation prosecutions, announced Tuesday.

EXPECT LOWER GAS RATE NEXT SPRING

WILLING to go ahead on an extension program rather than hold up paving work.

"It doesn't look to me as though this council should recommend such a thing at this time," said Alderman Dulin. "It's most unreasonable. The public is dissatisfied and there have been hundreds of kicks in the service as well as the rates in the past six months. I don't find any city around here where they are charging so much for gas."

"Night, I ask the alderman why it doesn't look reasonable," queried Mr. Jensen.

"Because my gas bill and those of others have been doubled, the past year—that's why," from Mr. Dulin.

Meeting Only 37.5 Cents.

"Our investigation shows that this gas company has made only 37.5 cents per month on its investment for the 12 months ending October," returned Alderman Jensen. "By next March or April this will be on an 8 per cent basis and we can get lower rates. The proposal is reasonable because if we fight for cut rates now it is going to react against the community later. We're receiving the effects now of our howling for lower freight rates and getting them seems to be also. In all fairness we should not and cannot ask any utility to do the impossible and operate on a return of 27 per cent. I believe if we treat them fair we'll get the service the service the citizens want and to which they're entitled to."

Higher in Three Cities.

Alderman Dulin's statement, that "no other city is paying as much for gas" was apparently just the opening for which Alderman Jensen was waiting. He returned with a list of rates in 16 cities of Wisconsin compiled by himself, showing that in at least three cities—Eau Claire, Waukesha and La Crosse—the rate for the first 5,000 feet is from 25 to 31 cents higher than in Janesville and that rates in five other cities are only a few cents less.

"This is sort of a give and take proposition like one of Judge Grimm's fables," concluded City Attorney Roger G. Cunningham after lengthy explanation.

"We shouldn't ask the company to operate on such a small return—lots of people want gas service but they won't be able to get it unless the company is making money," said Ald. L. J. Cronin.

Protests. Interruptions.

The meeting was featured by one political protest, that tooted to prevent the aldermen from interrupting each other and talking over them when they have the floor.

"The company should be allowed to recoup part of its losses," here. Mayor Welsh broke in on Alderman Jensen with:

"Of course, all of us would like—Fardon me, have I the floor?" questioned Alderman Jensen in his most polite tones.

"Yes, you're entitled," the mayor.

"Thank you," replied Alderman Jensen and he proceeded from then on without interruption.

32 Beloit Vets Present Claims

Thirty-two Beloit men, all claiming disability from war or illness received while serving during the war, crossed the upper corridor of the post office here Tuesday morning, having come from the government's "clean-up" squad. Others were arriving constantly, with the outlook that the squad would work overtime Tuesday night.

The squad consists of Dr. Walter Walden, medical examiner; William Glassner, claims contact representative; Harvey Noyes, vocational training representative; Frank M. Redfield, American Red Cross; and Robert Cunningham, American Legion. All but Mr. Cunningham, Janesville, are from Chicago.

The squad has no power to make settlement of claims. It is merely to straighten out the data on each man and forward it to Chicago where it will be reconsidered. The medical examiner had not made any examinations up until Monday.

Miss Hattie Addie, Janesville, and Mrs. Gorham, Beloit, secretaries of their respective Red Cross chapters, and assisting together with several secretaries.

THE BURDEN REMAINS WITH US.

With the adoption of the budget by the council the burden of increased taxation remains unchanged.

The time to have cut the expense of operating the city government was at the beginning of the year and thereafter. Business conditions have at no time been so promising that the luxury and waste and extravagance has been warranted in any manner.

That is what it has been—waste and extravagance. There has been a curtailment in all business expense, but here we have gone on with the largest sum of money ever provided for the city, and spent the taxpayers' cash like a sailor on shore leave.

The result is the $20,000 deficit—criminal and disgraceful.

The result is a higher tax rate when the people can least afford it.

The result is an increase in the budget up to the highest point ever known in the history of the city, and a higher tax rate necessary.

Responsibility cannot be fixed. Try it and the game of "passing the buck" will at once begin.

And what is there on the other side of the ledger? What have we here to show for the increased expenditure?

The other night a speaker before the Retail Merchants Association, said some men looked into the mirror and seeing eggs on their vest, blamed the mirror. That is the trouble here; the mirror is blamed. Look for the egg on the municipal vest—it's there all right, about $85,000 of spoiled eggs.

When is Janesville to remember its soldier dead with a proper memorial?

ARMISTICE DAY AND ITS CELEBRATION.

It is to be hoped that there will be no parade on Armistice Day. There are enough other things to do without making it assume the character of a military pageant.

Never has a day had so much meaning as will this November 11, of 1921. The disarmament conference will begin its sessions. The president has asked that all churches hold special services, that all people everywhere stop and offer a silent prayer for success of the movement that, should it succeed, means an end to international war. It is time for Janesville to prepare for a full day's program.

It may be that the disarmament conference will not succeed in reducing the world's armament to police necessities. It may be that, is quite likely, that the result will not be far-reaching in the settlement of the affairs of the world so that the back-breaking, bankrupting burden of war preparation will be entirely abolished. But the nations participating will have taken the first steps to that end. Eventually there must be an end to this burden or there will be destruction of world civilization crushed under its own load. Nations must agree that in the future they will not attempt to take what does not belong to them if it is to be effective. That alone will end war.

Every club, every organization, every school, every church can be an effective force and make for Armistice Day a celebration that will emphasize the need for supporting the aims of this conference called by the United States and for which our responsibility is of the greatest.

In a quiet, unassuming way, the Rev. J. Hart Truesdale of the United Brethren church of Janesville has been for five years a force for betterment in the community and his departure will be regretted exceedingly.

For the first time in the history of the United States an ex-president sits on the bench of the Supreme Court. William H. Taft has taken the oath and is now a member of the highest tribunal in the land.

There is no greater or higher profession than the law. It is needful that those disgracing it should be thrown out. This is a bad day for the shyster, the embezzler and the double-crosser, in the legal profession.

It costs one third the selling price of a bushel of barley to ship it from North Dakota to the seaboard. That is one argument to cut the freight rates.

Why should Japan want to disarm when there is the biggest navy and the largest army ready to fight and no place to go yet?

THE PICTURE VS. THE BOOK

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

New York City.—Teach it by moving pictures instead of by books!

This suggestion, long championed by such educational educators as Mr. H. G. Wells, is now meeting with widespread approval in this country. After many years of patient obscurity, the educational film is distinctly coming into its own. Not only is it greatly in demand by public schools, universities and churches, but the general public is showing an unexpected enthusiasm for it. Producers of educational features are finding it difficult to supply all the orders they receive for home projection machines, while New York moving picture theaters have recently discovered, somewhat to their own amazement, that an exceptional animal or travel picture, properly featured, attracts as many patrons as an all-star theatrical film.

The extent to which educational films are used is now so vast that a combination of non-theatrical producers was recently formed to establish exchanges throughout the United States for the distribution of pictures of a purely educational character. This combination plans to enlarge the field for their products, but in the meantime it is kept busy supplying the field which already exists.

CHAPTER XXXIX.
A FRIEND.

I began to grow nervous and tired from the constant running about, and soon enough that the general laxity of the life I was living was making it impossible to relax.

I needed constant stimulation. In the morning it was strong coffee, in the afternoon cup after cup of hot tea. I could not sit still without smoking. The cigarettes had been liberally taken to as part of this game became almost a necessity. They quieted me and kept me still when was worn out and too exhausted to relax. I still hated them, but them now, perhaps, because I depended on them now.

"Well, I do nothing of the sort," he answered crossly. " Haven't you enough to do without messing in a kitchen? Don't be ridiculous."

We dined out. I chose the most expensive restaurant in town, and an elaborate dinner. Even extravagant Winthrop frowned over the check for it.

I ordered three new dresses the next day and sent the bill to his office. That afternoon a new suit for him came home. I had no idea where the money to pay for these things was to come from. But it was part of the game. At the worst, he could borrow from my aunt or his mother.

One afternoon he phoned he was dining with Charlie Young and would not be home.

"I know you don't like him, and of course he doesn't go with your crowd," he said. "So I didn't accept for you. But he has an account I want to get—it means a big commission."

"All right, old dear," I answered with forced cheerfulness. "We need the big commission."

And suddenly I knew I could not face an evening alone. I had gone around so much that I was too nervous to stand by my own society. I longed for peace and quiet—but solitude was impossible. That was Ellen's day out and I had not yet found a date.

I phoned Colin to come over. Together we cooked a dinner partly from the delicatessen shops, partly cooked by Colin and myself. It tasted delicious.

Colin built a fire in the living room. I brought out some work—something I was trying to do on the few occasions I was alone. Colin, hunched up as usual on one of the small chairs, watched me.

For a while I sewed, and he smoked and watched, and we said nothing. "Do you know, Connie?" he remarked after a time, "you haven't Helen—Impurities are usually the result of impurities in the system which may be overcome by eating properly and keeping a clean, dry, erect. Blood vessels may cause them sometimes, but in most cases they are caused by the result of carelessness. The discovery that yeast contains vitamins and other properties that clear the system, make it possible now for many people to have complexion that are free from these blemishes.

Brown Eyes—Your colors will be all of the shades found in the autumn leaves preferably, but you will be able to wear almost any color, since your skin is so clear. To keep down your weight eat less starch, food, such as pastries, sweets and fatty meats will also be bad for you, as you are already so many pounds overweight.

Informant—Merely working together in an office does not incur any social obligation, other than those in the usual business relationship. If your daughter wishes to extend this and make a really social thing of her business friendships, she must put it all on a different basis, which means she should invite the wives of the married men in her invitations. The formal regards at not being able to accept an invitation should be mailed as promptly as the acceptance—apologies for not having complied with this merely accentuates the discourtesy.

Feminine Atmosphere

When Jefferson Hardy had at last taken a liking to his new post, when he was beginning to feel grateful to the firm for having given him the big city management, he outfit a four-room apartment and settled down to enjoy it.

But something was lacking. This was Hardy's first experience in managing his own town, where a fond aunt had mothered him and had done her best to make him think he was still in knee pants and should run to her whenever he bruised his finger. It was quite natural he should find a void in his new life, materially complete though it seemed.

When he was thinking of the missing deficiency one night the realization came to him of a defect in himself. At a youth meet, on Mississauga Ridge, near Ypres.

This defect was specklessly clean, it had shelves and coat hangers and a cot, all ingeniously contrived. Most wonderful of all it had a woman's shoe in an especially shaped niche in the wall.

Said the comfortable English sergeant, thumbing at the shoe: "It's a touch of home. Remember that, young man. What would he send him one of her cast-off shoes. He would write the first thing. That night.

He was unprepared for results. Madge sent him so small a slipper he called it a "pedal chalice." It was virtually new. "Probably too small for her," he decided. "I can't have it around. It suggests pinched feet."

Madge, however, thought this was a joke. She slipped him in a large wooden box, express collect, a battered shoe of a man, wrapped in hundreds of windings of tissue paper and tied with pink ribbon.

Stell was sentimental. Joined by a golden chain, she sent him a pair of baby shoes that she had worn, asking him to be custodian of these treasured relics of her infancy. Of course, Old Bill had overlooked the Englishman in some way, and the Britisher challenged him to a duel.

"All right; I'll fight you," said Old Bill. "But I get to name the weapons and rules for the fight."

The Englishman agreed, and this is what Hamilton decided. Each one was to strip to the skin, go out to the Yellowston river, and with an ax chop a hole in the ice. Then the two men were to get down in these holes and sit in the water up to their shoulders. The first to leave the icy bath was the loser.

The contest began. The Englishman stood it for a few minutes. Then, with a wild yell he leaped out and, with his teeth chattering, ran for a house and a stove as fast as he could.

Old Bill followed close on his heels, calling the shivering Britisher every name in his vocabulary. Old Bill was declared winner of the duel. He had begun no hardship for Hamilton. He had lived among the Indians and was as hardy as they. It is said to be the only man who could strip naked, take a bow and arrows and shoot buffalo from horseback as well as the savages, with whom he lived.

Hamilton finally settled down at

"By Jimmyn," exclaimed Jefferson, "that dugout memory hasn't stayed with me for nothing! I'll try out the idea."

A new shop would have no enchantment in it he knew. He was by no means in the plight of the Tommy who had to rummage in a destroyed village for its "atmosphere of femininity." No, Jimmyn, he would have to work at it. He would write home to all the girls and ask each to send him one of her cast-off shoes. He would write the first thing. That night.

OLD BILL HAMILTON'S STRANGE DUEL WITH AN ENGLISHMAN

One of the greatest of the old-time mountain men in western history was William T. Hamilton, or "Old Bill" Hamilton as he was known in the early days of Montana. His strong and rugged physique is unique. Old Bill had outdone the Englishman in some way, and the Britisher challenged him to a duel.

"All right; I'll fight you," said Old Bill. "But I get to name the weapons and rules for the fight."

The Englishman agreed, and this is what Hamilton decided. Each one was to strip to the skin, go out to the Yellowston river, and with an ax chop a hole in the ice. Then the two men were to get down in these holes and sit in the water up to their shoulders. The first to leave the icy bath was the loser.

He had lived among the Indians and was as hardy as they. It is said to be the only man who could strip naked, take a bow and arrows and shoot buffalo from horseback as well as the savages, with whom he lived.

Hamilton finally settled down at Fort Benton, Mont., where he opened a log cabin hotel and a butcher shop. The governor of Montana appointed him sheriff of Chouteau county, and he was also a deputy United States marshal. In 1865 the governor asked him to visit the Crow and Gros Ventre Indians and persuade them to come to Fort Benton and make peace.

Old Bill died in 1908 at the age of 66. He was always proud of the fact that he had been a scout for the United States army, and to the day of his death he kept the Stars and Stripes floating over the little log cabin where he lived.

Conditions in Ireland, Iles are not so good, it is found. The unemployment situation is second to the Irish situation. So many are out of work there the government is paying a pound a week upon certain conditions, although that scheme, he says, is being found to be an economic problem that is causing trouble on account of increased taxation. The employment situation, he found, is being subjected to the Irish problem and will not be suitably settled until the latter is straightened out.

Good Will Toward U. S.

The feeling of good will toward the United States generated during the World war, he said, has not continued in Europe. There is a dissatisfaction, however, toward Ex-President Wilson. The Europeans are declaring that he should not have made promises regarding the League of Nations unless it had been positive that the United States would back him.

There is considerable talk among the masses about the coming disarmament conference at Washington, he found. The multitudes are tired of war and are urgently hoping that some success will come out of the gathering of the nations to attempt to lessen its evils.

Coming back on the homeward trip through the eastern part of the United States, he found a slightly improved feeling among business men. It is hard to tell when business will return to normal, he found, but the opinion is that the worst has passed.

FARMERS PREPARE FIELDS FOR 1922

Bulk of Rock County Crops Harvested—Wireless Phone Test Success.

October is the Month To Pick Apples To Harvest Apples To Store the Root Crops To Make Clear—and Become Popular. To Provide a Good Winter in the Chickens' Scratch-Seed. To Top-dress the Apple Orchard. Wood Ashes are Helpful. To Provide Warm Quarters for the Stock. The First Frost Hurts the Crops. To Put on the Biggest Hen or Turkey to Fatten for Thanksgiving. To Set Full Fruit Trees. Many claim they get a year's growth over next spring's trees. To Sow Rye and Oats. It Both Improves the Soil and Furnishes Winter and Spring Pasture. To Think as You Go to the Movies of the Old Fashioned Corn Huskies as Popular this Month in Big City Days.

To Provide a Big Supply of Winter Wood. It is Far More Pleasant to Do it Now than Next January, Besides Making Better Fuel.

Preparations for winter and the 1922 field season are now in order on Rock County farms.

The bulk of the corn, tobacco and potatoes had been harvested. There are a few fields of corn still waiting to be cut and harvested only a few bushels of tobacco are left. Many producers have been holding off digging "sodas" because of the continued wet weather.

Now comes the plowing and preparation of the fields for next spring.

Direct Potato Market

One farmer near Janesville availed to remark that the "Republican administration must be given credit for a fairly good corn crop, despite the drought."

In Farm Bureau activities a direct marketing of potatoes through exchange is being pushed. Orders will be received by the Rock county market, built or sacked and placed at the market price of 40¢. Wisconsin shipping points. Most of the Wisconsin number one grade round-whites will bring top prices. Every car sold in the Bureau market will be inspected by a representative of the Wisconsin department of markets and a certificate of inspection will be forwarded with the larvae. It is hoped to establish the quality of Wisconsin potatoes nationally for obtaining the maximum prices.

Push Organization

The Rock County Farm Bureau has been made permanent after a two weeks' campaign. There are 10 county Farm Bureaus in the state and nine temporary organizations. There is a new one in Barson county, led by Rock county men and organizations campaigns are being planned in Dane, Iowa, Green and Grant counties during the fall months.

The first annual Wisconsin Marketing Exposition will be held in the Milwaukee auditorium December 5-10 in conjunction with the Wisconsin state fair and all the time the implement and agricultural association conference.

The exposition conference will be held in the Chicago offices of the Farm Bureau Oct. 6.

Market by Wireless

Sending out market reports by wireless telephone from the Wisconsin department of markets has been found practical and feasible. Exact knowledge of markets and prevailing prices on the day they are quoted is vitally important to every producer.

The farmer has not to watch and follow his market closely to get the most. Selling at a loss when the market sags has broken too many producers.

With the wireless telephone the farmer could know at noon what the market price were. He could be guided accordingly.

Order for Farmer

There is nothing complicated about the wireless telephone. The receiving outfit is the same as one any telephone and the line is "never busy." The sender reads off the different reports clearly and it can be understood to be written down on blanks.

Suppose there were one or two of the receiving outfit in the county, or one in each township. By a cooperative plan of cost distribution every farmer could learn the markets daily about the market price.

Valuable information has been obtained by Highway Commissioner Charles E. Moore from the state report it was stated Monday.

"We know where we can get good gravel now," said Commissioner Moore. "The report is detailed and imparts information that we can use to a good advantage. In the past we have devoted a great deal of time to prospecting for good gravel."

Text Successful

J. B. Westby and others in Turtle township were among the first to become interested in market reports for farmers from the state department of markets. The wireless telephone seems to be more practical over the radio than the telephone because messages are not sent out in code.

With the radio a skilled operator versed in the code is necessary while on the telephone anyone understanding the English language can take the messages.

Those who heard and saw the demonstration in the Gazette on Saturday are convinced it is a coming factor in the county to give information on markets.

A meeting was held at the Methodist church at Rock Prairie Saturday with farmers from Harmony and Johnston townships attending. Mr. Schmidley and C. C. Neff, Madison, general superintendent of the Wisconsin River Power company, were present and outlined the plan.

A committee composed of Robert Barnes, Fred Brunnon, and Norman Simundson was selected to arrange for the line.

Cost, $1,000 per mile.

According to Mr. Schmidley the erection of the line will cost between $1,000 to $1,200 per mile which includes wiring to each house in that distance.

Another line towards the town of Center is also being contemplated.

The Janesville Electric company has charge of the work and furnishes the line to the town of Center.

The project is on a pro-rata basis, a refund to be made to the farmers in case the cost is lower than estimated.

Plan Other Extensions

Running the line from the Emerald Grove and Avalon line to furnish power to the Johnston-Harmon townships is being considered.

This is but five miles distant from Janesville and the line would have to be run partly through the top of the hill.

Rabid World Series Fans Begin Rush Into New York

GOTHAM "HET UP" OVER "ITS OWN" SERIES BATTLES

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS
New York.—The metropolis is all worked up over the big series. The idea of having its own two major teams slugging it out for the highest baseball honors has set the whole town a-roar, and Father Knickerbocker is tightening his nerves to withstand a hectic ordeal.

So far the battle has been entirely on paper, but the teams will get down to business Tuesday afternoon at the Polo grounds.

Entombed by the thousands are racing into the city from the north, south, east and west—a few with tickets and others with hopes of getting them. Hotels are rapidly filling and it is predicted that sleeping space will be at a premium.

Final Practice Tuesday.

Both the Giants and the Yankees held their final practice Tuesday, lighting out and having workouts were the order of the day at the Polo grounds, each team having been allotted different hours for the last day's preparations.

Judge K. M. Landis, high commissioner of baseball to work with many other prominent baseball men, the outlook is favorable for the weather Tuesday and Wednesday.

The rival managers, McGraw and Huggins are equally confident of the outcome of the games.

Both Managers Talk.

"My players are in good condition," McGraw said.

"We are ready and no excuses will be offered on the score of condition when the Giants are beaten by the Yankees."

Baseball as it is played in the American League will be the Yankees' style in the series, declared Manager Huggins of the junior circuit champions.

"I intend to play regular American League baseball in the series with the Giants," he said. "The kind of baseball that won for us in our campaign. I think it will be a hard-fought series. Our club is going in with all the confidence in the world. I believe our pitching and attack will win the world's championship for us."

AMERICAN LEAGUE HAS EDGE ON SERIES
